Friday, September 12. 1718.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Sept. 17.

Rome, August 27.

ON the 18th Instant, a Courier come by the Way of Otranto, brought to the Ambassadour of Venice Dispatches from the Generalissimo, who writes, that the Report which was spread of a Sea-Fight between the Fleet of the Republick and that of the Turks, and believ'd false, appears to be true. These Letters say, that the Engagement happen'd in the Hight of Cape Matapan, the 20th, 21st, and 22d of July. That on the first Day, the Venetians having the Wind, began the Fight, about the 15th Hour; that it lasted till Night, and that the Turks suffer'd much Damage in it; that the two Days following, the Venetians again began the Battle about Noon, and continued it till Night, with Advantage, and that they shot down the Masts of 11 Sultana's, without sustaining any Loss. In the Night of the 3d Day, the Turks retired towards Spiezia, and the Venetians pursued them, and 'twas believ'd there may have been another Engagement, unless they received Advice of the Conclusion of the Truce.

Venice, Aug. 27. On the 20th of this Month, a Courier dispatch'd from the Army by the Way of Otranto, with Letters from the Sieur Diedo, Extraordinary Captain of Ships, arrived here, which confirm the Report of a Sea-Fight, and appear'd not probable, of a Sea-Fight between the Fleet of the Republick and that of the Turks, which lasted three Days, they having not heard of the Conclusion of the Truce. We know not the Particulars of those three Engagements which were fought the 20th, 21st, and 22d of last Month off Cape Matapan, except that the Nobleman Lodovico Diedo, Admiral, and Brother of the Commander, was kill'd; and that the Venetian Ships had the Advantage, so that the Turks having lost the Masts of many of their Ships, retired in the Night of the 22d into the Sea of Spiezia. The Peace has been proclaim'd in Dalmatia, and many Companies of Ultramontane Cavalry were ready to embark, to return into the Places of the Terra Firma, where Quarters and Forage are preparing for them. We heard on the 25th, by the Master of a Felucca, arrived here in six Days from Ragusa, that the Peace with the Turks was proclaimed with great Rejoicings there, and in all the neighbouring Places; that the Turks had also proclaimed it in Albania, and that Commerce was restor'd as it was formerly.

Madrid, Aug. 30. The King, the Queen, the Prince of Asturias, and the Infanta's, are still at the Escorial in perfect Health. On the 25th, the Festival of St. Louis, the Prince entered his Twelfth Year, being born on that Day in the Year 1707; and the Grandees and principal Officers went to the Escorial to Complement the King, the Queen, and the Prince, upon that Occasion. My Lord Stanhope, who went thither to communicate the Propositions he was charg'd with, return'd hither the 26th and the next Day he departed to return by the Way of Navarre. They write from Cadix, that they have Advice by a Ship arriv'd from Ceuta, that the Treaty of Peace between the King of Spain and the King of Morocco was concluded the 9th of June, and sign'd the same Day by the Governor of Ceuta and by two Ministers of the King of Morocco, one whereof set out the same Day to carry it to Mequinez to have the King's Ratification, and a Copy was sent to Spain, to be ratified by his Catholick Majesty.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 16.

Genoa, Aug. 27. The Count de Charolais is arriv'd here, and keeps himself incognito, without receiving any Visits, and will speedily depart for France. An English Ship is arriv'd here, which landed Mr. Wortley Montague, late Ambassadour of his Britannick Majesty at the Turkish Court, at Toulon, from whence he will pass thro' France to England, in his Return from Constantinople. According to the Report of a Captain of a Ship come from the Levant, the Venetian Fleet suffer'd very much in the late Fight they had with the Turks.

From the Amst. Courant, dated Sept. 17.

Warsaw, Sept. 3. Four thousand four hundred Horse, under the Command of Prince Wolkowsky, being come to within a League and half of this City, and it being said, that some Regiments of Foot of the same Nation are to follow them, we are here in great Concern. According to the Letters from the Ukraine, the Tartars are fallen again into Muscovy, from whence they have carried off many Men and Women into Slavery, and have made a great Booty of Cattle.

Copenhagen, Sept. 6. Two Days ago arriv'd a Post from Norway, by the Letters whereof we understand, that nothing considerable has happen'd there since the late Action; but that the Enemy have drawn ashore six of the small Ships they had at Idelfjord, to preserve them from the Insults of our Batteries and our Flotilla. An Express arriv'd here the same Day from the King to the Admiralty, with Orders for the Ships the Sudermanland and the Straelsund to sail forth with to Norway, with the Money design'd by his Majesty for the Subsistence of his Army in that Kingdom.

Copenhagen, Sept. 10. There is no News from Norway, no Post or Ship being arriv'd from thence since last Week. The King is still at Neukupin, and 'tis not known when he will go from thence, nor whither he will go afterwards. 'Tis reported here, that M. Vib is to go to the Court of Prussia, to carry on some Negotiation there of the last Importance; but this is very uncertain.

We have no News from the Baltick, except that the Swedes keep themselves close in their Ports, without daring to appear. Ours and the English Frigates cruise every where, and so the Trade is pretty secure on all Sides, whereby Provisions are become much cheaper than formerly. The Man of War the Sudermanland is ready to depart, except some small Matters which in seems she wants; as doth also the Straelsund Frigate, which has every thing on board except the Money, which she is to transport to Norway, for the Pay of our Troops.

Hague, Sept. 16. The entire Defeat of the Spanish Fleet by that of his Britannick Majesty, under the Command of Admiral Byng, and the View of the happy Consequences arising from it for the Tranquility of Europe, have had that Effect here, that the States of Holland in their last Assembly, could not forbear to testify unanimously, that they were ready to come into the Treaty Treaty for the Quadruple Alliance, and 'tis not doubted but the other Provinces will conform to the Resolutions of this; and enter in like Manner without Delay into this solemn Treaty; and 'tis even believ'd, that they will afterwards concert the Measures to be taken against the Princes who shall attempt or increase the Troubles in the North.

The Merchants who trade in the Baltick have made Representations by Writing to the States of Holland, importing that notwithstanding that 11 Men of War have been sent into the Baltick to protect their Trade, there have been this Year above 60 of their Ships taken by the Swedish, Danish and Russian Privateers; and they pray the said States to be pleas'd speedily to provide effectual Remedies against this Evil, or at least to grant them Letters of Reprisal against the said Privateers.

We hear from Paris, that the Earl Stanhope left the Secretary Schaub-sick at Bayonne. The same Letters say also, that we shall suddenly hear of some considerable Alterations in the Council of the Regency.

Letters from Petersburg advise, that the Prussian Minister has sent for his Equipage back, that was set out for the Island of Aland.
